

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is not unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain. What this great medicine did for him it has done for others."

The Sousa Concert.
The following criticism of the Sousa concert, given at the Salem Grand Saturday evening, is made by a competent Salem musician:

Sousa's band concert at the theatre Saturday night, was unquestionably a rare musical treat in many ways, for Mr. Sousa has personal force, executive ability, and great originality, but there are some places and acts where in Salem he lays himself open to censure, and that is not only rushing through his choice program that his men can play to perfection, for when they are as tired, as they certainly must have been from their hard day's work, they could not do full justice, but when he gave us three numbers—Wagner, Liszt and Massenet—only that were not his—seven Sousa numbers. Either he thinks we are not able to appreciate anything deeper, or else wants to keep his music constantly before the people. It is to be greatly regretted, especially after such a magnificent triumph as "Tannhauser," when we know full well what such a band can do. We don't hear first-class artists like that often, and then to just wish and hope that they will give us classics, and to be disappointed. True, all of his numbers are gay, sparkling and brilliant, but such an aggregation of players must know that an audience expects more from them. Mr. Sousa is certainly very magnetic. His gestures, movements and leading are prose, poetry, smiles, dancing and charms. He rivets your entire attention all the time, and his players are divine; so where this may sound harsh, it is only that it is too had to sacrifice art for frivolity. Mr. Pryor was of the first rank in the trombone solo. The women were quite unsatisfactory, and the greatest compliment I can again pay Mr. Sousa is that his band is far too fine to spend an entire evening on light music.

ELECTRICITY

Cars to Be Transported 1440 Miles a Day by the Mysterious Fluid.

New York, October 10.—A new scheme of transportation is to be introduced between New York and Boston, whereby, it is said, large packages and cars containing passengers can be whisked from one place to the other, 230 miles, in less than an hour. An experiment with the machine was held in Boston in the presence of many scientists, including A. E. Dolbear, of Tufts college. He announced that he was thoroughly satisfied with the system. It consists of a magnet car hanging from a single rail, which follows a current of electricity with one horse power. It is said that one ton can thus be transported 1440 miles a day at a cost of 30 cents.

The application of electricity to machinery, as mentioned above, is not all the uses to which it can be applied. It cures most obstinate chronic diseases with wonderful and startling rapidity.

Dr. Darrin, the electric physician, of Salem, employs the remedy with wonderful success, as is proven by the testimonials that we have heretofore published of the remarkable cures that he has made in this vicinity.

Dr. Darrin came to Salem to remain but a limited time, but since opening his office in this city his practice has poured in on him so rapidly that he has concluded to extend his visit to November 1st. Patients come to visit him from a wide area of territory. The other day a young man rode on horseback to be treated for deafness. In ten minutes from the time the doctor commenced operations he could hear, and the next day he left for home. Such treatment borders on the marvelous, and shows the wonderful cures that can be effected by modern skill, when exemplified by such men as Dr. Darrin. Dr. Darrin continues to treat all classes, the poor free of charge, except medicines, at his office, at the Willamette Hotel, from 9 to 11 a. m. daily. Those willing to pay from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. at half his former charges. He gives free and confidential examinations to all at the office or by letter. In most cases only one visit is necessary. He treats all curable nervous, chronic, acute and private diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat; catarrh, deafness, bronchitis, la grippe, consumption, heart, liver and kidney diseases, lost vigor, errors of youth, varicose veins and tumors, and will, under no circumstances, take a case that he cannot cure or benefit. Cures of private diseases are never published in the papers. Circulars and question blanks sent free. All curable chronic male and female diseases treated at $5 a week, or in that proportion of time, as the case may require.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effective Cure for it.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs, and difficult breathing, headache, sickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling. There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distasia, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose became inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, this producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but to-day I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feelings. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation, as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heart burn and bloating after meals.

SHIRT WAIST SUITS.

They Will Confine in Favor Dressing the Waist and Waist.

The vogue of silk shirt waist suits will not cease with the summer days. They will still be worn during the fall and winter, only in the latter case they will be of heavier materials. Nothing is more comfortable and becoming than the shirt waist dress, which, because it is all of one color, makes even the most undignified woman look well dressed.

The latest are the changeable silk dresses in dead leaf blue and black, blue and green and dull reds. They are worn with soft little turnover collars of mull and cuffs of the same, with stiched belts of the dress material relieved by jeweled buckles.

Tailor made dresses of silk and wool are trimmed with crisscross strappings

JAPAN'S "NEW WOMEN."

Society for the Culture of Women of the Flower Kingdom.

Japan is slowly but surely being penetrated by the "new woman" movement, says the London Tatler. The dainty little brown women who have always been likened to butterflies have become conscious that a useful and helpful life is more to be desired than an ornamental one, and they are going in for progress heart and soul. One of their "new women" movements, called the Japan Society for the Culture of Women, already has a membership of 1000 women in towns and villages throughout the country.

The progress of Japan, who started the women's club, is flattered when friends from the west tell her that she is in almost every respect a veritable European. It is her own desire to be thought so. She dresses like a western woman.

ANGLO-JAPANESE PACT.

Noted Traveler's Views Concerning the New Treaty.

RESPONSIBILITIES TREMENDOUS.

Sir William Martin Conway Tells What the Alliance Does For American Interests—Possibility of China Joining the Combination—Expects War Between Russia and Japan.

Sir William Martin Conway Slade, professor of fine arts in the University of Cambridge and a noted mountaineer and traveler, who is at present in the United States on a visit, gave his views in an interview the other day on the recent Anglo-Japanese treaty.

"The treaty between Great Britain and Japan," he said, "is the outcome of Russia's energetic development of Siberia. It is a defensive alliance because Great Britain's interests in the far east are identical with those of Japan. Great Britain is chiefly concerned with China and Japan with Korea, and the treaty is aimed at maintaining their territorial integrity. Japan has by the alliance lifted herself into the first ranks as a world power, a position which she has well earned her right to hold. The alliance of the two great powers will check for the present at least France and Russia in Asia. It is quite possible, too, so far as China is concerned, that the new agreement may ultimately result, if events should warrant it, in a triple alliance in that region. There was no balance of power there until the Anglo-Japanese treaty was concluded.

"The United States' interests in China are exactly the same as Great Britain's in that they are purely commercial and are implied by the oft repeated phrase of the open door. America, of course, will enjoy all the benefits of the treaty, but none of its responsibilities—and the responsibilities are tremendous. Russia and Japan have always been enemies, but within recent years that enmity has increased to one of exceeding bitterness. The cause of this arises simply out of the fact that Russia's interests in the far east are not those of Japan's. The Japanese are an energetic and progressive people, and as the development of the far east continues Japan's interests will conflict more and more with Russia's. I think, therefore, that a war between the two powers is certainly possible. If such a thing should happen and Russia was to be victorious, she would undoubtedly proceed to annex China to her empire. Of course America does not want to see China fall into the hands of Russia any more than does Great Britain. Right across the Pacific is the Celestial empire, and the United States is naturally looking to that vast country, with its teeming millions of people, as a valuable commercial outlet. It is quite probable, therefore, that the United States would step in and assist Great Britain if that were necessary, in preventing Russia's annexation of China.

"It is perfectly safe to say that if Britain had not formed an alliance with Japan the United States herself would have done so sooner or later notwithstanding the fact that she is adverse to getting mixed up in far eastern matters. Those who are against the treaty are of course suspicious of it. 'When is it directed against?' they say. 'Do Great Britain and Japan fear a common enemy?' If so, who is the enemy? 'Is this alliance to be used as a moral setoff against the abandonment of Weihaiwei as a place of arms?' and other such absurd questions. Of course the alliance was formed for the purpose of defense against any condition of hostile forces in the far east. But will it not serve in that region of the globe as a rallying point for all the forces that made for peace?"
